PRINCE HENRY OF PRUSSIA.

London, March 22.—According to reports received in an authoritative quarter through Copenhagen, the tension which for some time has existed between the Kaiser and his only brother, Prince Henry of Prussis, has now culminated in a complete rupture. The prince for some months has resented the free hand which his imperial brother gave to Admiral von Tirpitz, and when on February is the Kaiser visited Cuxhaven to assist in the inauguration of the submarine blockade, his royal highness unceremoniously left the council to which he had been summoned to and gave instructions for his flag to be struck on the warship to which he moved when he laft the ill-fated Bluecher just before her raid in the North Sea.
